Jenna St. Clair, District Manager

Did you know that all water-holding containers surrounding your home such as empty flower pots, bird baths, aluminum cans, plastic bags, garbage cans, and old tires have the potential to be mosquito breeding habitat? With no natural predators in these man-made containers, the potential for disease-carrying mosquito populations is high.

You can learn all this and more starting this spring when the Conservation District begins a countywide Mosquito-borne Disease Control Program with a grant from the PA Department of Environmental Protection.

The Schuylkill County Mosquito-borne Disease Program seeks to implement an effective integrated pest management program through public education, reduction of mosquito breeding habitat, larval mosquito control and, if necessary, adult mosquito control.

A seasonal technician will trap and collect mosquitoes throughout the county. Collected mosquitoes will then be sent to DEP labs for identification and disease testing. The technician will also respond to complaints and conduct public education. If population control is needed, this can be done by removing breeding habitat (water-holding containers) or conducting larval spraying. If disease is detected and control of adult mosquitoes is needed, adult spraying will be conducted by DEP in conjunction with the county technician.

In the past, the county program was administered through the Penn State Ag Extension office, but that program ended due to reduced state funding. DEP has continued to conduct limited surveillance and monitoring in the county, but funding is available once again for us to have a more robust, locally-controlled program.

I welcome your thoughts, ideas, concerns, and questions about the Schuylkill Conservation District and can be reached at (570)622-3742 x3335 and jstclair@co.schuylkill.pa.us.

- DOUGLAS FIR: Beautiful, symmetrical evergreen that makes an excellent Christmas and landscaping tree. Grows fast in moist, well-drained soil. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 7-14"
- NORWAY SPRUCE: Fastest growing of all spruces. Develops pyramidal shape and strong graceful branches that are covered with dark green needles. Ideal windbreaker that likes full sun and grows in various soils. Matures at 60 feet and has a beautiful 25 foot spread. 4 year old seedlings. Size: 10-24"
- COLORADO BLUE SPRUCE: Handsome ornamental or Christmas tree with blue-green needles. Great for wildlife cover. Likes ordinary soil, average moisture, and full sun. 4 year old seedlings. Size: 9-18"
- AMERICAN ARBORVITAE: This slow-growing tree prefers full sun to partial shade but adapts to a variety of soil conditions. Prefers moist soils but withstands drought. It grows to a mature height of 25-40 feet, and has a mature spread of 10-15 feet. Good wind-block and provides cover for all types of wildlife year round. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 5-10"
- EASTERN WHITE PINE: Great ornamental or Christmas tree with soft, long blue-green needles. Excellent for wildlife cover. Likes ordinary soil, average moisture, and full sun. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 5-10"
- AUSTRIAN PINE: Good landscaping tree with 4-6 inch long and stiff needles. Grows to a medium-sized tree with a very dense crown. Nice brown to gray bark color. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 10-16"
- PIN OAK: Named for a characteristic where small, thin, dead branches stick out like pins from the main trunk. This is among the most widely planted and fastest-growing native oaks. It tolerates drought, poor soils and is easy to transplant. Popular because of an attractive shape and trunk. The green, glossy leaves show brilliant red to bronze fall color. 2 year old seedlings. Size: 10-20"
- WHITE FLOWERING DOGWOOD: Prolific, large, pure white, overlapping petal-like blooms in spring, dark green foliage in summer, red-purple leaves in fall and glossy red berries that persist into winter make this a lovely ornamental tree for all seasons. It has a short trunk, horizontal branches, and a moderately globe-shaped crown. The dense branching provides shade and nesting sites, fruit and buds are a favorite with dozens of bird species, and the nectar and pollen attract butterflies. Dogwoods prefer acidic, moist, well drained sites with partial shade, but will take full sun. 2 year old seedlings. Size: 10-24"
- RED BUD: Red Bud grows as a small tree with an abundance of purple blossoms in the spring. It has large heart shaped leaves during the summer, and long seed pods in the fall. Popular landscaping tree. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 15-30"
- AMERICAN CRANBERRY: Excellent deciduous shrub for screening up to 10 to 12 feet high. It grows to a width of 8 feet with very dense growth of up to 3 feet per year in full sun or part shade. This bush has showy white flowers in spring followed by red berries in fall and winter. Berries hang through mid winter making excellent bird feed. This shrub has very few insect problems and prefers good, well-drained soil. For best growth, provide supplemental water during dry periods. For a solid screen, plant bushes 2 to 3 feet apart. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 15-30"
- WINTERBERRY: Winterberry is a deciduous shrub growing 6-15 feet tall and often as wide. It develops a rounded habit through suckering, eventually growing into a sizeable colony of upright stems. The stems tend to be dark brown and often develop a pleasing gray sheen. The 3 inch long, elliptic, toothed, and pointed leaves vary from light to dark green, taking a yellow hue in autumn. Offers bright red berries in late summer. The berries, for which the common name was derived, remain after leaf fall and persist into the winter months to provide food for wildlife. Winterberry prefers evenly moist, acid soils in full sun to partial shade. 3 year old seedlings. Size: 10-30"
- POND CYPRESS: Similar to Bald Cypress except with finer foliage, thicker bark and always found in non-flowing bodies of water. These trees maintain a desirable straight trunk and develop thick calipers towards the base. Relatively maintenance free requiring minimal pruning. Will grow 50-60 feet tall with a 10-15 foot spread. Likes wet, poorly drained acidic soil. 2 year old seedlings. Size: 10-20"

Mother Nature's Neighbors

Spotlighting Alexa Kramer who works as natural resource conservationist for the Schuylkill Conservation District. She wears many hats for her job and serves as an inspiration for young people interested in this field.

What was your inspiration to pursue a career in conservation and natural resources?

I grew up going to my family's cabin in upstate PA where we would spend most of the summer season outside, whether it was swimming in the creek or going for hikes around the area. I think just spending a lot of time outdoors as a kid and young adult was what led me to know I wanted a job that gave me the option to work outside and help to protect and restore our area's natural resources.

You serve as natural resource conservationist for the conservation district. What is your favorite project and why?

One of my favorite projects is the Schuylkill Acts & Impacts (SAI) program that I help coordinate. SAI is a weeklong watershed expedition for high school students in the Schuylkill River watershed. Throughout the week, students study different water quality impacts such as abandoned mine drainage and agricultural runoff, and explore how these impacts can be mitigated. The students perform daily water quality sampling, go on tours, meet with conservation professionals, and have a great time camping and kayaking! It is really an extraordinary opportunity for high school students, and I love seeing the impact this program has on the students who go through it.

You were born and raised in Schuylkill County and you were able to find a job in the field that you studied right here in our county. How were you able to do this?

The process started with completing a summer internship with the Schuylkill Conservation District while I was still in college. I met Bill Reichert at the SCD, who also is the president of Schuylkill Headwaters Association. Upon graduating college, I reached out to Bill and learned of the AmeriCorps VISTA program, and that SHA had a position opening up. I was lucky enough to get that position and serve 3 years with SHA. Again, it just so happened that as my time with SHA was coming to an end, a position at SCD opened up and here I am. In truth, I ended up meeting the right people, and the timing of things couldn't have been better!

What is challenging about your job?

Looking at it from a broad perspective, I think it can be challenging to not get disheartened with everything that is happening in the environmental world. We always hear about the negative things, such as all the invasive species, or funding cuts, or diseases that are killing the forests. I think it's important to focus on all the good that is happening too, especially right here in Schuylkill County, and keep a positive attitude.

Do you have any suggestions for a young person who wants a career in the environmental field?

Do what you can to learn and gain experience! There are a lot of volunteer opportunities out there with different conservation and environmental groups, whether it be tree plantings, clean ups, or assisting with educational programs. The more you gain experience in the field, the more you will learn about your likes and dislikes, and that could help lead to your perfect career.

Porcupine Pat staffed the display of the PA Association of Conservation Districts during the annual Farm Show held this past January in Harrisburg. The butter sculpture was a popular display. Other displays included mushrooms, bees, plus young people had a chance to show and have their livestock be judged. The vegetable soup and potato doughnuts were amazing!
